

JUDGE KIMBALL IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Dies at North Carolina Avenue Home After Several Months' Illness.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY;
BURIAL IN ARLINGTON

Presided at Police Court of District
Nineteen Years—Was Member of Burnside Post, G. A. R.

JUDGE I. G. KIMBALL.

Ivory G. Kimball, for more than nineteen years judge of the Police Court, lawyer and business man, died at his home, 620 North Carolina avenue southeast, at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon, after an illness lasting several months. He was seventy-three years of age and had been a resident of Washington and active in public life here for fifty-three years. Funeral services will be held at the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church, of which he had been a member, at 2 p.m. Wednesday, and will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Paul R. Hickok, and by Burnside Post, No. 8, G. A. R., of which also the deceased was a member.

Interment will be made in Arlington national cemetery, where Mrs. Kimball was buried a little more than two years ago, and in a lot which was assigned to Judge Kimball by former Secretary of War Garrison, although it was an exception to the rule that none but commissioned officers might be granted such privilege.

The pallbearers chosen from the Masonic craft will be Jesse E. Potbury, representing Hiram Lodge, No. 10, F. A. M.; Henry Lansburgh, representing Mount Vernon Chapter, No. 2, Royal Arch Masons; Francis A. Sebring, representing Columbia Commandery, No. 2, Knights Templar; Sterling Kerr, deputy of the Supreme Council and representing the local bodies of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, of all of which the deceased was a member; H. E. Snyder of Orlis Lodge, No. 2, F. A. M.; representing Burnside Post, No. 8, G. A. R.; and Harry H. Skippin of Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 4, F. A. M.

Funeral services at the residence of the deceased will be conducted by Hiram Lodge, No. 10, F. A. M.; Frank M. Scott, worshipful master.

Was Born in Maine.

Judge Ivory G. Kimball was born May 5, 1843, on a farm in Jay, Oxford county, Me., now East Disfield, Me. He was the son of Wilburham Kimball and Ann L. Kimball, whose maiden name was Hatch. He was descended from Richard Kimball, who, with his brother Henry, sailed from Ipswich, Suffolk county, England, April 10, 1674, landing in Boston, Mass. All the Kimballs in the United States (a goodly number) are supposed to be descendants of these two brothers.

In 1848 his father moved to near Fort Wayne, Ind., his mother and himself following in June, 1846, afterward living in the city of Fort Wayne. He received his education in the schools of that city.

After his graduation from the high school he taught school until his enlistment in the army. In 1862 he enlisted in Company E, 5th Indiana Infantry, Capt. Emery's company, and served his enlistment, but, owing to sickness contracted in the service, was refused reenlistment.

In June, 1863, he was appointed to a clerkship in the internal revenue bureau of the Treasury Department by Hugh McCulloch, then Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. McCulloch was a Fort Wayne man and a particular friend of Judge Kimball's father.

He remained in government service until July 1, 1865, when he resigned and commenced the practice of law in Washington, which he continued until March, 1891, when he was appointed to the bench.

Practice Before Departments.

Judge Kimball had a large practice before the departments and the Court of Claims, as well as his practice in the local courts and the Supreme Court of the United States, and was considered an authority on internal revenue law. He was especially successful in prosecuting claims against the government for war taxes erroneously collected, representing in that capacity, in addition to others, the state of Massachusetts, the state of New Jersey, the city of Wheeling, W. Va., various counties in Tennessee and Kentucky and the Pennsylvania railroad.

In 1891 he was appointed by President Harrison as judge of the Police Court, to fill a new position created by the act of Congress of March 3, 1891, and held that position by successive reappointments until April 2, 1916, having filled the position for over nineteen years. During that time he tried over 150,000 cases.

September 26, 1865, he married Miss Anna L. Ferris of Fort Wayne. She died March 23, 1914, and is buried in Arlington national cemetery.

They had eight children, four boys and four girls, of whom six are now living, namely: Mrs. W. K. Tyler, wife of Rev. William A. Tyler of Crete, Neb., pastor of the First Congregational Church there; Harry G. Kimball, lawyer of this city; Mrs. Alice K. McMichael, wife of Dr. John W. McMichael of Portland, Ore.; Dr. Arthur K. Kimball of this city; Mrs. Edna K. Ferris, wife of Otto L. Ferris of Portland, Ore.; and Dr. Walter E. Kimball of St. Joseph, Mo., who arrived in Washington Saturday morning.

Was an Extensive Traveler.

Judge Kimball had been an extensive traveler, having visited many times every section of this country. He made also several trips to the various European countries and visited South America, the West Indies, Canada, Mexico and Panama.

Chapter, No. 3, R. A. M.; Washington Council, No. 1, R. and S. M.; Columbia Commandery, No. 2, K. T.; Almas Temple of the Mystic Shrine, and he was a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason. He was a religious man and was a member of Metropolitan Presbyterian Church of this city. He was also a member of Burnside Post, No. 8, G. A. R., of which he was commander in 1900. In 1903 he was a commander of the Department of the Potomac, G. A. R. He was also a member of the Board of Trade.

Ever since 1903 he was busily engaged in efforts to secure at Arlington the Memorial Amphitheater, which is now in course of erection, and it is largely through his efforts, it is said, that this building will be completed in 1917.

The first appropriation, that for securing the plans, was made May 30, 1908. Judge Kimball was a member of the commission appointed by this act to secure the plans and report them to Congress. The commission made its report to the second session of the Sixtieth Congress, but it was not until March 4, 1914, that Congress finally appropriated for the building now being erected.

During all these years Judge Kimball was constantly at work, by correspondence and personal interviews and in hearings before the various committees of Congress, in behalf of the project.

The act authorizing the erection of the amphitheater named him as one of the commission, and when the commission was organized he was elected its vice president. He was one of the speakers at the laying of the corner stone October 13, 1915.

FORCED INTO BANKRUPTCY.

Creditors Take Action Against Mills & Gibb, White Goods Importers.

NEW YORK, May 15.—An involuntary petition of bankruptcy was filed by creditors in the federal court today against Mills & Gibb, one of the largest white goods importing and jobbing firms in the country. Liabilities are stated as upward of $2,000,000. The assets are not given.

Federal receivers were appointed for the firm in a creditors' equity action last week. It was asserted in that complaint that the company was insolvent, but financially embarrassed and that the "current business was extremely good," and that it was thought that through the receivers it could be continued profitably.

The company has branches in many American and foreign cities.

SALISBURY, N. C., May 15.—A Tankersley, engineer, in charge of the Southern railway's New York-New Orleans limited, which, November 24, 1915, in the yard here, crashed into the rear of a special train, killing two and injuring twenty-two passengers, was sentenced today in superior court to serve four months in the county jail. Tankersley last week was found guilty of manslaughter, the jury recommending leniency.

The court, after pronouncing sentence, granted the county solicitor permission to hire out the defendant.

Tankersley is at liberty on $1,000 bail, his counsel having given notice of an appeal to the state supreme court.

To Increase Loan Interest.

Representative Cary today introduced a bill regulating the remedial loan business in the District of Columbia. It provides that loans may be made at 3 per cent a month up to $50 and at 2 per cent a month between $50 and $200.
